NONAC REGIT

Canon City, Colorado

Dedication

The disposition of the members of an organization, their philosophy, character, and attitudes are embodied in and displayed through the traditions they maintain. Conversely, according to the traditions pursued, are persons' temperaments and dispositions influenced.

It is to the continuence of the remarkable traditions upheld at Canon City High School that we seniors of 1954 dedicate this annual. We can behold our institution in high esteem for the highly developed honor system regulating it; for a loyalty kept, maintained, and respected campus; for a jealous assembly conduct is all.

Our lives and our outlook on humanity have been exceedingly enriched by these traditions of high ideals. Through them we have learned to become appreciative, considerate, attentive, courteous, understanding, and responsible. Preparation to meet circumstances under our own steam has been afforded us.

We have experienced, and can be guided by, the thought that "as freedom increases, a sense of responsibility must increase or there will be disaster." May we ever respect the benefits we have obtained through these traditions---keep them lofty, cherish them dearly.

"No failure, but low aim, is crime."

ADMINISTRATION FACULTY

RALPH MONELL

Former headmaster at Lolani Episcopal School for boys in Hawaii, has for three years been Superintendent of School District #1. From Colorado College he has earned an A. B. and a M. A. ; but he's still in school, working toward an Ed. D. at Denver University. He observes that "Our actions must always be determined by the question: 'What are the Consequences?'"

FRANK M. HICKEY

Congenial master of Canon High, has tromped the halls for 33 years. In that time, he has tried his hand at several posts before becoming Principal. He once coached the Black and Gold softshoes, led a top-notch grid squad, and was Asst. Principal. He holds A. B. and M. A. degrees from Colorado University.

LESLIE LEROY BEAHM

Business Administrator, for four years held the rein at CCHS as principal. In 30 years' association with the high school, he served as Superintendent for 22 of them. He taught Science in Fruita, and was the boss at Delta H. S. "Believing that if you 'Give the best you have, the best will come back to you," Mr. Beahm has an A. B. from Denver University and a M. A. from Colorado State College.

MRS. CLARA M. GARWOOD

Asst. Principal and Girls' Advisor, has been with CCHS since 1937, and in her present position since 1940. She was Asst. Principal and Girls' Advisor at Roosevelt Jr. H. S. She taught in Boulder Business College, and at Berthoud High School, and has diplomas from Boulder Business College and an A. B. degree from Colorado University. "What you do, you are," she maintains.

A HUMIN' 'N' SINGIN'
The Boys' Quartet -- Bob Ore, Lee Sheridan,
Gary Reed, Lloyd Shonyo.

VOCAL EXPRESSIONS

The Chorus started off with a terrific task but a whale of a lot of fun this year. They tackled Handel's great oratorio, "The Messiah." With the help of some members of the Abbey, the Academy, and townsfolk, they very ably presented it in early December to a packed house.

Next on the agenda was Christmas carolling. For six days the 60 guys and gals of the A Cappella choir hopped into school buses bound for all the grade schools. There they sang carols to all the little shavers, who enjoyed the program very much. It was the chorus who officially ended school for the Christmas holidays with their carolling up and down the halls.

On the night of December 21, the choir had their annual shindig. Everyone piled into a truck, and they struck out singing carols across the countryside. They visited the Odd Fellows Home and several old folks' homes with their glad tidings. Then back to the Youth Center they came for hot chocolate and doughnuts, and a general good time.

After Christmas vacation, the singers buckled down to the job of learning new numbers for the various programs they are asked to present.

Within the 60-voice A Cappella choir there was a Small Choir of 22 vocalists which met betimes at the hour of 7:30 A. M. for practice. They made numerous appearances around the town and motored to Camp Carson to entertain the hospitalized soldiers there.

A spring concert was performed jointly with the band in April. Later in the month the vocalists entered Colorado State Music Festival competition in Pueblo.

R.O.T.C.

R. O. T. C. cadets have not only learned war methods and military tactics, but also valuable lessons in discipline, leadership, self-reliance, and co-operation.

A completely new staff heads the unit over that in charge a year ago. Sgt. Harding was assigned to replace Sgt. Brechan Manning; Sgt. Ralph Hare stepped into Sgt. Harley Rice's post to handle the records, statistics, and other paper work. The battalion came under strict supervision and more rigid standards when Capt. Ernest Bobko joined the military department in March to succeed Capt. Harwood as Professor of Military Science and Tactics.

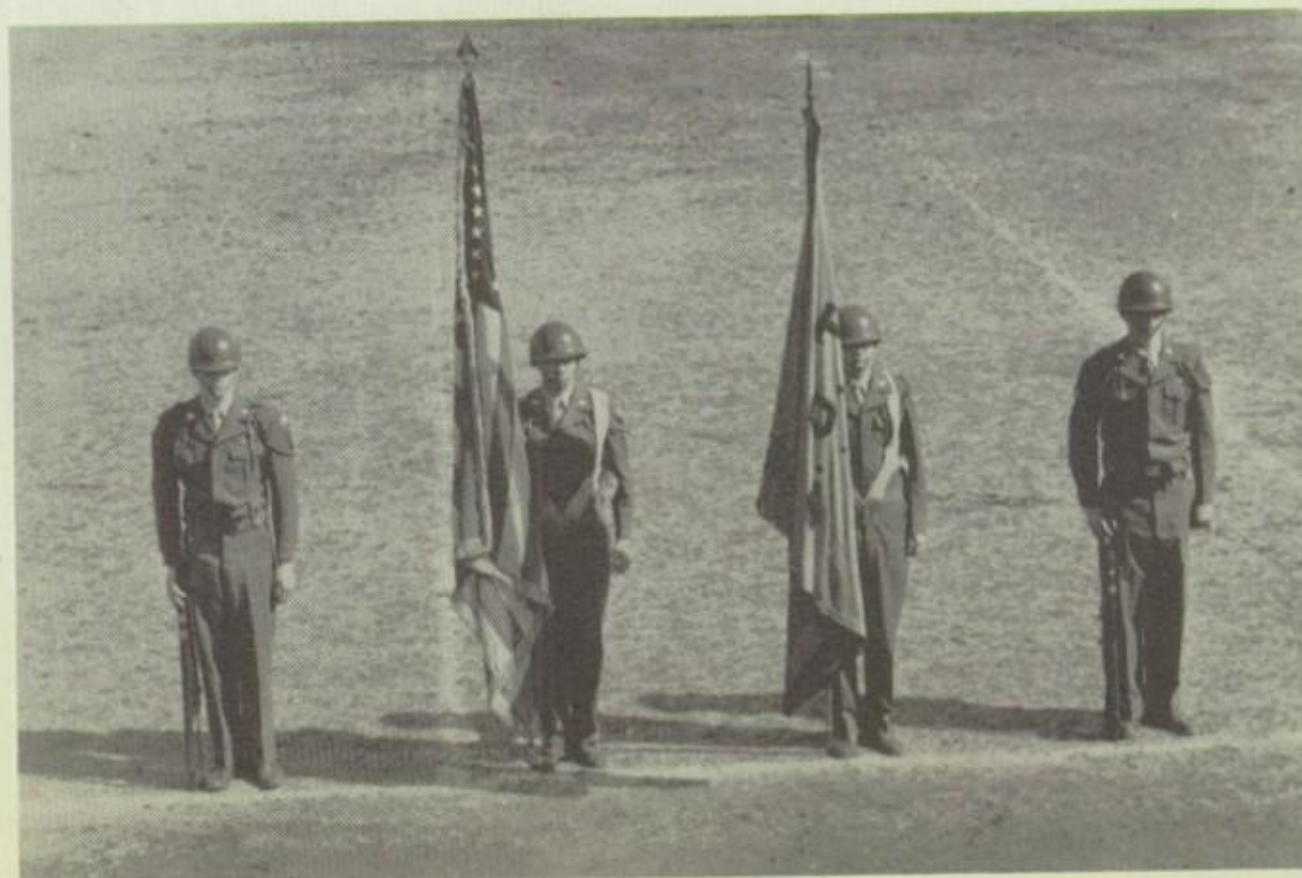

Sgt. Hare organized the first girls' rifle team, in the recent memory of CCHS, out of a group of honorary sponsors. Cadet marksmen were coached by Sgt. Harding with a 4-won-3-lost record.

The battalion formed for parade under sun and through snow to march on several occasions.

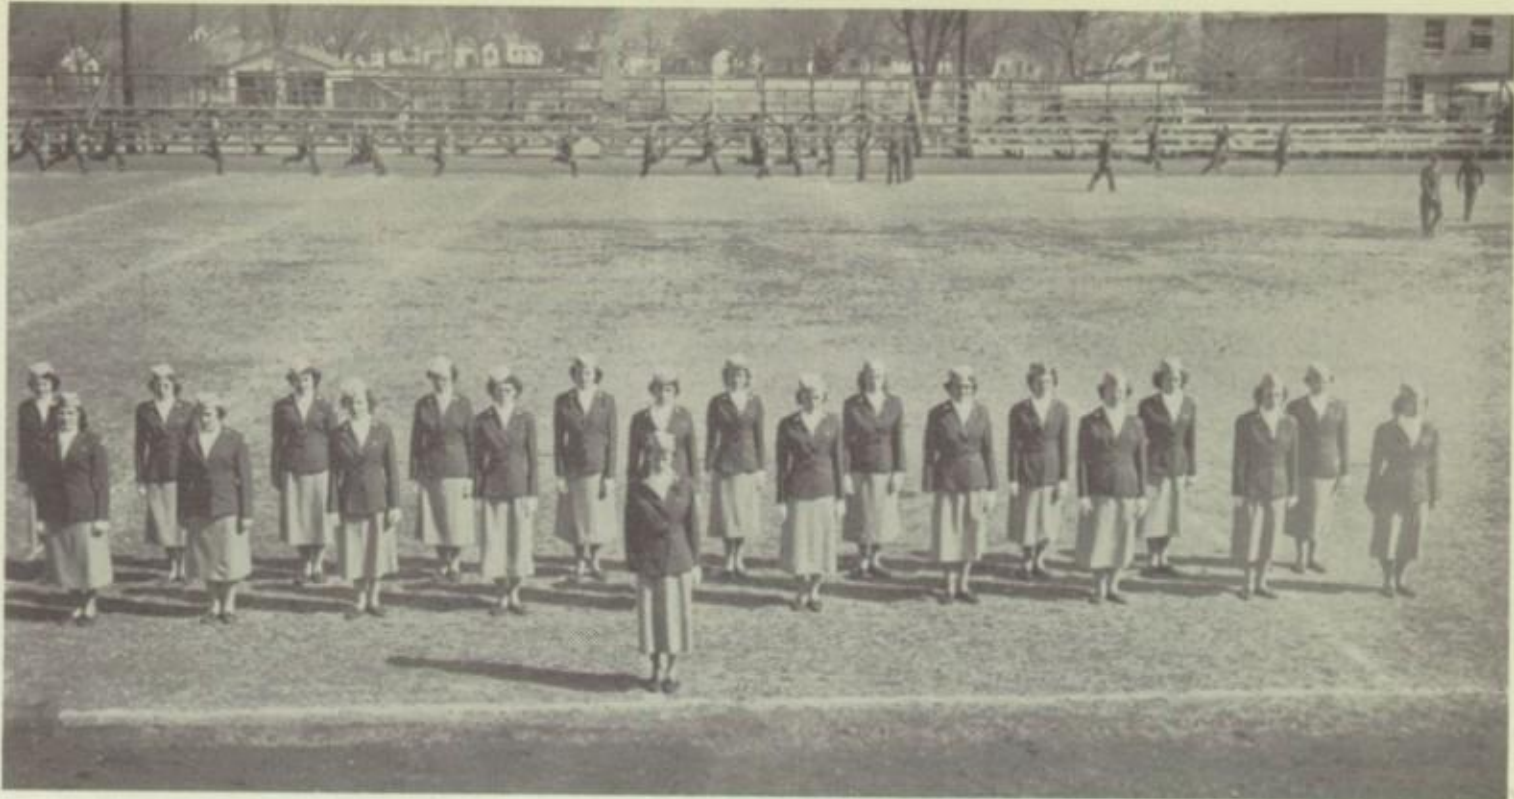

During short-handed spells this year, several senior officers gained a bit of practical experience from their classes in teaching methods by acting as instructors for sophomores.

CANON CITY HIGH SCHOOL BAND

"Look sharp, feel sharp, be sharp" is the motto of Black and Gold instrumentalists. The reason? --new uniforms.

The long-awaited, smart garb was unpacked in time for Homecoming doings on October 31. Of an entirely new style--black flashers, high collars, braid--they have hit a high note with both onlookers and band members. Drum Major Doug Tureck sported a handsome, 12-inch fur dome with bright gold trim.

A year of bustling activity included half-time shows during the gridiron season, Pioneer Day parade at Florence, Apple Day at Penrose, and a band clinic in Salida, which proved helpful to the band members. Not only did the band participate in activities such as these, but it also did some fine concert work. After conducting a commendable winter concert, the first of its kind in many years, they shared a spring concert with the vocal department. The Tiger band traveled to Pueblo in April to the Colorado State Music Festival.

The band consisted of some 63 players this year. From this nucleus, several groups were organized, such as the 20-piece Dutch Band, which played for most of the Bengal Hardwood games and pep rallies; and a jazz combo with Leroy Anderson, Jack Coats, Vern Baumer, and Vic Becco beating the tempo. Vern Baumer set the beat for the pep band as student director.

MR. EARL
BASHFORD Director

The Keynotes of Rhythm dance band realized its second year of success. They have played for many dances and special programs for civic groups, and they were a popular feature in Tiger Tales and exchange assembly programs.

Two representatives were chosen to play in the All-State Honor Band in March: Sylvia McDermeit (clarinet) and Leroy Anderson (percussion). At the close of the year, a band banquet was held; the highlight of the evening was the awarding of band letters for service and accomplishment.

Officers elected for the year were Douglas Tureck, president, Jack Coats, vice-president; and Clara Darnell, secretary.

Band Booster Day was carried out to solicit monetary backing. Blossom Day activities pretty well wound up the tootin' 'n' struttin' for '53-'54.

Room clerk Ben Lakin checked in an outstanding variety of talent at his out-of-the-way hotel on March 11 when the stage was set as the lobby of the Babbling Brook Inn. A phenomenal rush in business brought performer-guests before the large and appreciative audience on hand for Canon High's annual vaudeville production.

The establishment became a cross-roads of show people----including the Keynotes of Rhythm dance band, a Bellhop Quartet (Bob Ore, Lee Sheridan, Lloyd Shonyo, Gary Reed), Liberace and Brother George (Bill Duff, Meryl Wamhoff), the Travelers Three singers (Nancy Newcomb, Deanna Curtis, Judy Helmick),

Two Friends (pals Gary Reed and Bob Corrie), the singing and dancing Rhythmaires (Alice Gillen, Lloyd Shonyo, Lee Sheridan, Dorothy Griffen, Gary Reed, Marrilee Sammon, Bob Ore, Olive Turner), Sue Newton in a reading, Beverly Dell in a ballet to calypso drums, tears from Johnny Ray (Bob Ore), and the Park Avenue Bums, (Helen Hewitt and Barbara Hayhurst in a carefree mood). These acts including a monologue by Phil Rutledge and with Ken Kester as M.C., were selected as the Black and Gold exchange assembly program to appear on stage at Central, Centennial, and Colorado Springs high schools.

Students continued to come before the footlights in "There's No Business Like Show Business," the Nautical Nifties (a dancing routine by sailors and waves), the Beauty Shop Quartet, the accordion duet of Yvonne Quick and Nick Powers, a pantomime of dancing puppets and a pep club that dropped by on the way to a ball game.

1953-54 FOOTBALL

The Tiger football squad bogged down on the turf, winning one out of nine games during the 1953-'54 season. However, the team never lost its spirit. Although out-weighted and out-classed in most of the contests, the team kept fighting. Whether ankle-deep in mud, or under a hot autumn sun, the players remained true to the Canon High tradition of sportsmanship, putting emphasis on good, clean football. Its weaknesses will be forgotten long before the memory of its attitude in the face of bad fortune.

Eleven seniors finished the season, and they will be hard to replace. Even so, the Black and Gold has many underclassmen potentials, and looks forward to a better day.

Doyle Goodale, star quarterback and co-captain, was a source of strength when the going was rough. Co-captain Willard Walker, an excellent halfback and fine punter, was a stone wall on defense.

Bob Corrie was a dependable offensive-defensive tackle. Gary Reed knew his job as center. Ken Kester, at quarterback, made up for his size with a fast, tricky game. Gary Evans, end, was there when needed. Bob Ore, end, disregarded his lack of weight.

Tackle Dick Stienmier went after the holes in the opponent's offense. Ben Lakin was fighting as tackle. Roland Rice, in his first year, didn't get in on too many plays. End Bus Pray was the best match in weight and size for Canon's opponents. The loss of Art McMillan early in the season was a severe blow.

Willard Walker and DeVaughn Demicell were named to the all-conference second string. Honorable mention was made of Goodale, Corrie, Evans, and Reed.

BENGAL CAGERS

The Canon City Tigers downed Las Animas 64 to 49 in starting off the '53-'54 hoop season with a bang. Playing two nights straight proved too much for the Black and Gold tho, as they lost to a sky-scraping, State Champ team from South Denver, 53- 54.

At home, they won in a hard 'n' close overtime, 57-55, over the hot-shooting Lakewood Tigers. Free throws by Kester were decisive tallies.

Canon fell before a hot West Denver team, 70-55, in a sad third period; and again dropped a game, this time to the Alamosa Maroons, 51-45.

The Tigers won over a scrappy Colorado Springs five, 53-51, in a thriller won in the last minute with a lay-up by Goodale.

A close game proved a hard earned victory in overtime for Grand Junction, 54-51. The Canon five defeated Grand Junction in the second game of the series, 54-44.

The Bengals bowled over Salida by 20 points, 57-37.

Canon City lost to Pueblo Centennial 54-41 with poor shooting. After gaining a low point margin at the half, they also lost to Trinidad, 45-42. Then they lost again to Pueblo Central 65-62.

They whipped the league-leading Trinidad Miners, 48-44, with a great display of hustle and fine shooting at the free throw line; then lost to Colorado Springs, 56-45, when they seemed to be too tired to get started.

The basketball season was played against opponents who were better teams only in height. The Tigers displayed some of the greatest fight and hustle that ever a hoop team has showed. After a peppy lead-off in most of the games, the Tigers slumped in weak third and fourth periods; then countered the depression with a vigorous, desperate rally in the crucial, closing minutes.

Battling Willie Walker was the spark of the hardwood. Kester, Goodale, and Evans were top scorers.

Under the capable guidance of Miss Betty Jenkins, G. A. A. purposes to develop sound bodies, alert minds, and good sportsmanship. At different times throughout the year, playdays are held at various schools and attended by representatives of each organization. At the close of the day, regardless of win or lose, the girls have had a great time.

Each year G. A. A. sponsors the King of Clubs dance with proceeds going to the Heart Fund. A senior boy is elected from each club and voted for by contributions to the Heart Fund. G. A. A. provides wonderful opportunity to girls in our high school, in good times, and in bettering relations with other schools.

"To Understand Self, People, and God"

Animated Y-teens projects have been the spark of CCHS entertainment. The youngladies have prepared pep assemblies, spread the Father-Daughter banquet, held installation, and with "Love Can Open Prison Doors" as a theme, they hosted the district Y-teen mid-winter conference in February.
